I don't know you anymore, but I still want you.
For all the memories that are burning through my mind.
It kills me now. And I can't react

Take this broken words and tell me why
You've left me on the road, smashed every sound.
I need you, 'cause you are the melody of my life
And don't ask why, but you'll be forever mine.

Now I'm leaving here, but I still want you
For every kiss that raised my hope.
It fills me now, And I can't react

So, Take this broken words and tell me why
You've left me on the road, smashed every sound.
I need you, 'cause you are the melody of my life
And don't ask why, but you'll be forever mine.

Trough you I've loved so many friends,
Trough you I've lived so depressed.
Though you I learned to live and had so much fun and happiness.
But now I'm leaving, yes I'm going away.
I'm trying to forget and don't miss all my friends.
And I know that's impossible.
My fragility stops.
I raise my hopeful voice,
'cause I have the choice!
I have the choice!
I have the choice
