Visit "Why" on MotoLyrics.com

Why, why, why can't you understand
That golden wedding band you wear
On your left hand means that you're mine
Why why why can't I make you see though
You still think you're free
Your heart belongs to me till the end of time

I love you more than words can ever say
My heart would break if you should go away
No one could love you like I do and I die
A little more each time that you're untrue
Why, why, why can't you understand

Why can't you be true the way you were?
Why do you keep running back to her?
I pray each minute, I'm alone that
You'll forget her soon and find your way back home
Why, why, why can't you understand?
