We see the damage, the bodies lying everywhere
You are the reason of this, but you don't seem to care
We fought our way through the night, one shot is left to do
We're getting closer to see, the real side of you

We see the darkness, taking over your soul
It's time to end this, tonight you're gonna fall

Again we march into this abyss
We build our path
We're gonna carry on until we finally meet our death
We are not coming back
We've reached the point of no return
Now we will stand aside
And watch you motherfer

All of this time we've been there for you
We've overcome everything you've put us through
Now there is nothing left for us to fear
You won't even notice when we'll disappear

Behold the mess that you've done
No lives are left to break
You've ruined everything
With only one single mistake

And now the chaos will rise
There's nothing you can do
Now you can only regret cause it's consuming you

So let the fire burn
To cover up the trace
You'll face the consequences
The ones you can't erase
We hear you calling out our names
But we won't help you now
We'll watch you bleed again
As you are going down

You're on your own and noone will save you now

This is the final fight
you're gonna fall tonight

While we will stand and watch as the fire ignite

This is the final fight
you're gonna fall tonight

Go!

So let the fire burn
To cover up the trace
You'll face the consequences
The ones you can't erase

We hear you calling out our names
As you are going down
