Sometimes I wonder just what I am searching for been living my life one foot in one foot out the door at night oh, atlanta she sings yeah, she speaks to me sheâ€™s pulling me in like a siren on Peachtree Street she knows where I want to be, and

I will get by Iâ€™m slowly gaining speed Iâ€™ll keep my head high against the currents we will hold on tight, â€™til our fingers bleed and I will get by on my own two feet

Forever confined by the walls that I built myself I was just a little scared, a little lost, afraid to ask for help
But things are changing â€™round here these days, or so it seems Iâ€™m picking up the pen I will write my own history
I am finally free

And every time I think â€™is this the end?â€™ it comes around and it begins again but like the ice my patience wearing thin and I am breaking, I am breaking in.

I will get by
I will keep my head high
