You could never walk, walk away
From the edge of time, you don't stay
You can run but will that keep you safe
Surrounded by the games that we play

Used to carry hope in your soul
Fixing things is easier when they're broke
Just know that I hate to see you cry
Stop the tear before it leaves your eye

And don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come
And don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come

Seems the lessons better than before
Some may think I'm rotten to the core
Show me now darling why so strange
Funny how you know I won't change

But don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come
And don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come

And don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come
And don't give up your love
Yesterday has already come
