how can it be i act in this way my emotions kept in check this i did not expect she comes at night she comes at day oh how i wish she'd go away i aint her eyes
i paint her mouth yet my heart is filled with doubt he looks happy she looks happy to you don't know how luck you are well the roses fail to bloom the reasons are quite clear if i shed a little tear i would drown in a pool romance i have often read makes a man a giggering fool now i will admit to this i am not the exection to the rule

he looks happy she looks happy to
you don't know how luck you are

i would lie at your feet id tel you things i know for i have sailed the oceans broken hearts and felt sorrow but never anything like this a burning passiion burning lips as i wait at kingdoms hall contemplating my great fall
