For a while, for a while
I thought I'm not a bore
For a while, for a while
I thought I'm so smart
Then I didn't remember my problems
And I tried

For a while, for a while
I thought I'm a prince
For your dreams, for your nights
A prince from your tales
But somehow
I wasn't believe in so much

But I can get the things I miss
If I'm always in chains and closed
I need open my window and see the world

For a while, for a while
I thought I'm not a bore
For a while, for a while
I thought I'm so smart
Then I didn't remember my problems
And I tried

For a while, for a while
I thought I'm a prince
For your dreams, for your nights
A prince from your tales
But somehow
I wasn't believe in so much

But I can get the things I miss
If I'm always in chains and closed
I need open my window and see the world

And I tried...
