If I'm gone in a couple of years
And you find yourself all alone in tears
You feel the good wind kiss your ears

When you find a note in your pocket that you never knew was there the words act like fingers, as they run through your hair

That's me waiting by your side
That's me waiting by your side
Some things come and go
But true love always shows
That's me waiting by your side

When you set the table and you're dining just for one You swear you see a hand grab the bottle and share a glass of wine

That's me waiting by your side
That's me waiting by your side
Some things come and go
But true love always shows
That's me waiting by your side

Some days they feel like rain they flood your heart again and again but the sadness splits and the sun will rise and the clouds will break and you'll know why

That's me waiting by your side
That's me waiting by your side
Some things come and go
That's me waiting by your side
