Just forget all about fate
While I unlock this gentlemen's promise
With flesh like fire but it lacks a color
And chemical laughs (that) fly around
Like drama
I know I move like an apparition
in a style thats all ghostwritten
But these are the things I can take apart
These are the things I can take...

You move me like I've got new feet..

Just don't leave me like this
Because I need wonder..

My stereo has blown away
So for now your voice can stay..
But once they all circle me..
I will rip apart this machine..

I am a prince
With paper parts
Made of spit an paper dolls
A killer's karma has been bound
Uneven seams
A broken bow...
She's got this problem with people flying
One way tickets and a fear of crying
But these are the things she can take apart
These are the things I will take...

You move me like I've got new feet..

Just don't leave me like this
Because I need wonder..

My stereo has blown away
So for now your voice can stay..
But once they all circle me..
I will rip apart this machine..

I cut her up and sent all the parts and they hung them on all the corners and bars
