whatever happened to the girl who let me write my name in her tattoo do you remember hiding out w/ me in theater number two & can you believe i don't even recall if we ever kissed i still have your sweatshirt & i still have your records & i still have those tapes you made of your favorite songs but i just can't quite bring myself to put them on

but maybe it's too late for that now i still have the letter you wrote sitting on my steps waiting for me to come home on a night that i did not come home & i still have the letter where you said the words i'd waited for since the day we met

or maybe i fucked it all up somehow i wrote my name on your arm in blue baby it's you
