they played the records that we all know they played em fast and they played em slow with crazy lights and the music loud it just wasn't the same somehow it wasn't the same somehow i wish we could dance the same as before but i don't have it in me anymore same dinner at the same cafe you kept asking if i was okay no i can't explain it even now

it just wasn't the same somehow

the sweetest air and not a cloud in sight i walked you home and i said goodnight when you asked me up to the house
it just wasn't the same somehow

i wish we could kiss the same as before
but i don't have it in me anymore
i don't have it in me anymore
