chapped lips, tongue kissed insert expletive fluids of a summer night with slight duress forced imperatives find me quoting Donovan a delicate blend of sweat and menstrual blood seeping into trampled grass so take my tongue between your teeth and taste me by devouring and i'll start watching my weight again

oh

woke up at dawn face down on the lawn head awash with what had been rest cheek to cheek fingers underneath soft impressions of your teeth some hours lost and at such a cost stains and scars i can't explain
