you went out with your best sweater on with every intention of dancing till dawn but when the dj played that song, it all went wrong crying in the cabride home with frank sinatra on the radio but it might as well have been lil kim when every song you hear still reminds you of him and you'll say that it's no big deal but it's the shake in your voice that gives it away, how you feel and you couldn't slam the door any faster

but it's the tears on your face that give away how you feel and you'll say tonight tonight was a disaster
