How can you say you don't want this
When it's what you've been searching for
Above all else you want to fly
But you pretend you don't know how

My sad eyes follow you
My soul withers and dies
Your cries have been heard
Resistance still lies

You touch and feel the real
But you push it away when you're seen
It's your hideaway when you want to
You still believe what you believe

Can't you see my pain
It's burning right beside you
No, I know you won't
Cause you want something that you can feel
Can't you see my pain
It's right there
Why can't you see my pain
