I couldn't stay away so long
It took me by surprise
I couldn't stay away no longer
Looking in your eyes

You've taken me in
It's time to begin
Sedation is not far away
You have a game
And it's not the same
I'm dying to know when you're coming home

Miss you to death
Longing for a long time
And dying for a lifeline
No longer will you be mine
Miss you to death

I always paint a perfect picture
Of your thin disguise
Trust was taken in your hand
But never realised

I followed you back and fell in your trap
I got nothing left in return
It's always too much when you're out of touch
You know I can never be left alone

Miss you to death
Longing for a long time
And dying for a lifeline
No longer will you be mine
Miss you to death

Striding through all the notions
Reeling in all the pain
Feeling of lost emotion
Nothing without you
Grieving with every moment
Riding through all the waves
We are no longer potent
Nothing without you

I knew you so long
Whatever went wrong
How did it turn out this way
I know you're not far
Wherever you are
It kills me to think you're not coming home

Miss you to death
Longing for a long time
And dying for a lifetime
No longer will you be mine
No longer see the sun shine
Stop longing for a long time
Start dying for a lifeline
Forever we will be fine
Missed you to death
