Lost in an empty room
The scent of her perfume
Has guided me so far away
Hard to face another day

Time does not help to mend
Continue to pretend
That you can cure as you redeem
Everything's not what it seems

You've been gone for so long
Things have changed, not the same
Seems to be that you have lost the way

Those tears have come, start falling
Tears have come, come crawling
Tears have come

Inept forsaken star
A plan to take us far
A stolen dream is not the same
Dying scream that can't remain

Return to our descent
Follow it to the end
You can not hide so please don't try
It's hard to stop when you're alive

When you're gone for so long
Something's changed, very wrong
You don't see but things are not the same

Those tears have come, start falling
Tears have come, come crawling
Tears have come

I tried my best to do your part
And in return you crushed my heart
No one will ever see you star
Up and down, all around
Close the blind, you'll be fine
Touch my heart, steal my soul

Now there's nothing to console
Things have changed, very strange
Now you're gone, seems deranged
Together we were always to remain... Gone!

Those tears have come, start falling
Tears have come, come crawling
Tears have come
