We are running out of time, getting closer to the end, to the end

Oh my darling dry your eyes, set aside your alibies
This thing is getting colder, we both are getting older

Great solutions never came, always living on today
As we were getting older and things were getting colder

I think we messed it up this time, we both are guilty, it's a crime
To look over the shoulder and not put things in order
The broken pieces used to fit this perfect picture that we split in two,
That we split in two

Now we're down to!

You, me shutting doors between you, me perfect foes
You, me cracking up love

There is a scar that keeps on growing, my tongue ist ied your heart is turning Consequences are so cruel, consequences change the rules
Brick by brick we built our road to misery and we were so keen to follow,
We were so keen to follow

You, me shutting doors between you, me perfect foes
You, me cracking up love
You, me shutting doors between you, me perfect foes
You, me cracking up love

Cracking up love! as we are getting old!

You, me shutting doors between you, me perfect foes
You, me cracking up love
You, me shutting doors between you, me perfect foes
You, me cracking up love
