

Charlene Kaye

"Bonnie Parker"

Visit "Bonnie Parker" on MotoLyrics.com

I would like to run away to
A place where
The clouds would roll high in the afternoon
Where sidewalks light up by the harvest moon

I would like to run away to
A place where
Stars could be seen as a warning
Where we could rise clean in the morning

The dust storms are spiraling fast
Just bury your face in your hands
And follow the river that just keeps flowing

I would like to find a place
Where the taste of
Blood in my mouth could evaporate
Where my soul could just rest from all this weight

And then you and I could live in peace
You and I could dine like kings complete again

The dust storms are spiraling fast
Just bury your face in your hands
And follow the fire that just keeps growing...

Visit Charlene Kaye page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.