Sometimes, it feels like I'm so far away
Like everything I love has lost its place
When life gets the best of me
I just close my eyes and see

Fireflies dancing in the yard under the blanket of stars
The sound of their rusty, string guitar
Playing songs we know
And all that I have to do is think one little thought of you
And I'm back home, I'm right back home

Work so long and hard to chase your dreams
Wind up someplace you don't want to be
It's such a lonely road
Especially when you know

There's fireflies dancing in the yard under the blanket of stars
The sound of their rusty, string guitar
Playing songs we know
And all that I have to do is think one little thought of you
And I'm back home, I'm right back home

I'm back home
Yeah, I'm right back home
