

Christina Novelli

"Concrete Angel"

Visit "Concrete Angel" on MotoLyrics.com

Let me breath you in, and breath the words in your mouth, inside your shivering, the silence shouts so loud. I just want to, I just want to stay around, and while my heart beats I promise I won't let you down.

If you keep building these walls, brick by brick towers so tall, soon I won't see you at all, until the concrete angel falls, I knew who you were from the start, but now I don't know who you are, soon there will be nothing at all, until the concrete angel falls.

If I'm somewhere else it doesn't mean that I don't see, that you don't trust yourself, that's why you don't trust me, it makes me crazy, when you're crazy, you don't speak, you think you know me, but what you know is just skin deep

If you keep building these walls, brick by brick towers so tall, soon I won't see you at all, until the concrete angel falls, I knew who you were from the start, but now I don't know who you are, soon there will be nothing at all, until the concrete angel falls.

It's twisting your mind, I'm not getting through, cos I don't see it like you do, There's nothing to find you've got no excuse, I'm over getting over you, cos I don't see it like you do, I'm over getting over you.

If you keep building these walls, brick by brick towers so tall, soon I won't see you at all, until the concrete angel falls, I knew who you were from the start, but now I don't know who you are, soon there will be nothing at all, until the concrete angel falls.

Visit Christina Novelli page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.