I'd heard the news and I saw her face
Her beautiful face, that I just couldn't place
And there was depth in those eyes
More than just a trace where have I been to have missed something
Can I wish something and hear her sweet voice sing
Who can soothe the soul
Of almost everything
Another angel has left the garden
Another angel has left the garden
Without warning or goodbye
How their loved ones must have cried
Another angel leaves the garden
Wish I'd known of her recognised her name
But if it's all the same who can you blame
If you're not at home
when an angel came They're here then they're gone like precious birds on their wing
And if I've learned one thing and if anyone's listening Stay close to the home
When you hear an angel sing
Another angel has left the garden
Another angel has left the garden
Without warning or goodbye
How their loved ones must have cried
Another angel leaves the garden
Another angel another angel
Another angel
