I have to die this night there are no more reasons for the life go far away and left everything behind rubbish, fire and blood, all i see it was just a dream
so good to be awake high-five God, it's nice to see you please let me go through your door let me go to walk over my way a kind of devil living inside of me rebel shadows growing over me only one heartbeat explode my veins cold running around my back somebody follow my footsteps

Look around, nobody at there I realize, it's just a life's joke Victim of the emotional bushfire Edge of the abyss and step one more what's going on? you better leave!

Dive across the life Evil made dove fly to the moonlight A new star born in the endless sky Think again the power of destiny Heavy or thin, what kind of humanity liar and hypocrite interest driven false saint

be the same like a crowd won't be able to look through your ego lose your mind and step one more never look back, keep going straight on ahead living in a wrong side good morning at the freedom's junkyard
