Countdown

Another body found for the government to ignore
Another home is lost from someone who was poor
Another cop caught beating up on innocence
Another law that seems to make no fucking sense
Another person tested positively to HIV
Natural disaster is just something we don't need
Another politician's life remains a mystery
Another mountain side that we cannot see

The media has built a fortress or what is wrong?
Newspaper headlines, do they tell us what is right,
I wanna know exactly what the fuck is going on
All around our minds
Just a matter of time before it comes here to this town
The clock is winding down
Will I see it broken before I lay down and die
Another wall is built between color and race
...countdown
Another fact is not exactly what you read
Another chemical is dumped into the sea

Another wrong decision about peace is made
Another piece of land that just could not be saved
Another day, Another pain, Another misery
Another education that could not be paid
Another killer in the street is roaming free
I've got a feeling, I've got a bad feeling inside
