He had a little magic sack

He used it in his time of need, to run from pain

But Felix was a little cat

And we are people, that's a fact

We can't bail out like a toon

Let's face the world

It's our mistake

We should try and relate and know that what is done is done by hand of fate

Searching for a reason to live

But we're too tired to give

About the state of mind that drives us all to hate
