lost in confusion not knowing which way to return to the person you know this trepidation makes you take it out on someone else you forever
everybody wins i don't think so what would the worst thing be if you took the wheel and you lost control no one is safe inside your safety zone don't understand but i hear what you're saying the repetition of a lonely life somebody tell me why the heart is waging war against the friends of the enemy of your mind not your opinion sounds like you learn it from a show it appears you have lost so sick of marching in your loneliness parade stay together underneath a giant tidal wave

what would the worst thing be if you

the repetition of a lonely life

your imatated ordinary life

its when that you can't break free can you take a chance as you let it go happy without the words you'll never know no way to lose when your mimicking you're paying a no decision forbidden home

the repetition of a lonely life
the repetition of a lonely soul no one is safe inside your zone
