Well the gray is choking the blue out of the sky
But the love's beaming from this little house of mine
See the sun and its friends have come inside to hide
From the gunmetal gray explosions in the sky

Life's a tune
That will always change
Change is the only constant we'll ever know
So 'til we go
We'll sing

Well the rain came and soaked both us and our parade
But the fresh coat of green's only got the rain to thank
We are being uprooted by a hurricane
But the love beaming from our house will let us say

Life's a tune
That will always change
Change is the only constant we'll ever know
So 'til we go
We'll sing

Well the wind is pounding on our Walls are breaking and the Rain is seeping through the Floor is drowning in the
Gray's pursuing but we beam so bright
And 'til we go, we'll sing

Life's a tune
That will always change
Change is the only constant we'll ever know
So 'til we go
We'll sing
