For a day I'd like to be the wind
Just to blow through your hair while I breathe
But if my heartbeats only rocked your sleep
For a day I'd like to be no one but me
I ain't the wind, I ain't the rain
I ain't a poet but I feel the pain
I would rather fade than let you go
For a day felt like a stranger in my home
I would rather be blind than see you go
For a day I realized I was alone
For a day I'd like to be the thief
Just to steal from shooting stars for you one wish
If you really ever want me to
For a day I'll make this ol' sun kiss the moon
I ain't the prince, I ain't a thief
If I'm a tree, then where are my leaves?
I would rather fade than let you go
For a day felt like a stranger in my home
I would rather be blind than see you go
For a day I realized I was alone
