are you scared
that you're not underprepared to act this role where you lack heart and soul you're not shaking but there's trembling in me cause you could never love somebody else more then you already do love yourself i never judge but the jury is closed on this one wrong trip you got skipped left spinning in place you went around all night you're choking on the notion that you swallowed to help make you feel alright it was all just a waste of my time

I set your mattress to the sea took all my time then you charged me a fee wont ever say this is easy cause i cant I paid the penalty then went home somewhere your mattress set up on it's coast get all you can and then kill me perfectly safe stand with your big plans no mess from me you know i'm just fine you're see through i got my plans too and this is over with cause you're wasting my time how sad you were a waste of my time
