

Coasta "Sirens"

Visit "Sirens" on MotoLyrics.com

I hear the sirens call they're off and wailing in the deep they sing to beckon me and join them at 1000 leagues you see the long lines roll they're stretching out to touch these shores and then they just fall back to form up and peel once more and all I see is waves crashing over me they break my bones I'm in the shallows all alone

I feel the currents change the winds have blown your sails away I'm now a sinking stone right to the bottom I fall straight you catch the sparks inside that gives the ocean black some light burn off when we collide falling to ash on this coastline

Visit Coasta page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.