

Cole Powell "Stay"

Visit "Stay" on MotoLyrics.com

Right now
You're looking at yourself
And you're trying to forget
Just how you got there
You take some pills
But the pills don't help
No matter what you do
You're still living in a nightmare
You think about her all the time
And you'd give anything just to have her back now
The way the pain is killing you inside
You might as well be laying six feet in the ground
You're already in the ground

She said
Don't leave me
If you love me
You don't even have to
Say you're sorry
'Cause I love you
And I need you
So, please, baby
I'm begging you to stay

Right now
You're thinking to yourself
And you're doing everything
Just trying to forget it
You know inside
Another drink won't help
The longer this goes
You think you might as well end it
And that lipstick stain
Is still on her pillow
Where she used to
Lay her head at night
You keep thinking
How it all went wrong
And how you'd give everything up
Just to make it right
It's never gonna be all right

She said
Don't leave me
If you love me
You don't even have to
Say you're sorry
'Cause I love you
And I need you
So, please, baby
I'm begging you to stay

You decided to apologize
After all you were so wrong
By the time you got back home that night
You waited too late; she was already gone
She was already gone

She said
Don't leave me
If you love me
You don't even have to
Say you're sorry
'Cause I love you
And I need you
So, please, baby
I'm begging you to stay

Yeah, I'm begging you to stay
Begging you, I'm begging you to stay

Visit Cole Powell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.