There were those, who didnâ€™t run,
there were those, who couldnâ€™t take it,
there were those, who stayed in the city, where was it? where did it go?
There were those who laid their bodies down, there were those, who took our knives, there were those, who kissed the grey skies, there were those, who only knew only the sound of their own voices,
There were those, who knew the rules,
there were those, who freed there bodies,
there were those, who couldnâ€™t take it,
there were others on their own,
what was it? what was it?
There were strangers and conman,
there were those, who lived in the cross space, there were people lighting candles,
there were people going crazy,
there were those, who walked the beach, what war is that, what time could this be?
There were those, who didnâ€™t run,
there were those, who couldnâ€™t take it,
there were those, who stayed in the city,
what was it, where did it go?
There were those, who laid their bodies down,
there were those, who took our knives,
there were those, who kissed the grey skies,
own voices,
There were those who, knew the rules,
there were those who, freed there bodies, there were those who, couldnt take it,
there were others on their own,
what was it, what was it?
There were strangers and conman,
there were those, who lived in the cross space,
there were people lighting candles,
there were people going crazy,
there were those, who walked the beach,

what war is that? what war is that? what time could this be?
