I set the timer long ago
Life's an alarm clock ringing still
Finally waking like I should Think I'm finally starting over now
Climbing higher towards the sunlight

I'm a fragile man of glass
Healing the cracks inside it lasts now
No recycling bin this time
I think I'll follow a different sign
Tired of living in a house of cards

And as I ran across the road
I turn on my back on what we had
I felt the raindrops fall on the palm trees
Cleansing the pain you often dealt
Not this time

I'm a fragile man of glass
Healing the cracks inside it lasts now
No recycling bin this time
I think I'll follow a different sign
Tired of living in a house of cards

Looking for the faces
The queens to fill my hand
Playing pocket aces
Its time to make amends
