I won't fail this time
The war is over and what I've become was more
Than a man on the inside
And I will achieve this on my own
Without you, it's possible
I just thought you should know
And I've looked myself in the eye
One too many times
Staring in the mirror, what did I see?
At least it was the me I wanted to see

I've changed myself for the better
And now I'm not sinking
It's time to start thinking about being mature
And I will achieve this on my own
Without you, it's possible
I just thought you should know
And I've looked myself in the eye
One too many times
Staring in the mirror, what did I see?
At least it was the me I wanted to see

I've counted the hours and I've overpowered what I once was
And I've been showered with lies. I'm a coward with a thousand flaws
If you think I'm ready, if you'll just let me, I'll prove you all wrong
And I've been regretting my time letting myself not be where I belong

I won't fail this time
The war is over and what I've become is more
Than a man on the inside
And I will achieve this on my own
Without you it's possible
I just thought you should know
And I've looked myself in the eye
One too many times
Staring in the mirror, what did I see?
At least it was the me I wanted to see
