God, give me a sign because I am blind
And I need to get it through my head
God, forgive me
Because lord, I have sinned
And I don't wanna be him again

When you are breaking the heart of the person that cares the most about you
It's not a game anymore
That's a person's heart you're throwing on the floor

You see I, I've lived like this for too long
I was weak and was never strong
I know by, by now you can see right through me
Well you were right and I was always wrong

When you are breaking the heart of the person that
cares the most about you
It's not a game anymore
That's a person's heart you're throwing on the floor

You cry, I die
Just a little bit inside
And I want to show you that I can change
I've lost all hope
There's nothing I can say
To make you trust in me

You cry, I die just a little bit inside
And I want to show you that I can change
I've lost all hope
There's nothing I can say
To make you trust in me
