

Creation's Tears "Odyssey"

Only oceans are between us
And it is through you that I believe I could live again
And if I should pass I will rest in your ocean
For these are the waters that once drowned me

Where is the light in my lonely existence?
I brave the dark and the waters bleak
For I've seen your image in the mind's eye,
Fear is alluring but pain is no temptress.

There's no point in coming crawling
The mighty temptress has fallen
There's no point, no point, no point in coming crawling
