years ago, I knew that I was an orphan oh I heard 'em all, talk about how this world was tough.
I met a man, who told me how he lived it though he had a plan, to make the most and do what he loved don't let it pass you by live your life enjoy the ride how long you been taught to take your time but you know things'll always be the same... you'll be better off running

you'll be better off running

wasn't hard, to understand where he was comin' from never disregard, all the time you have while you're young he spoke about, the time he was broke and fallin' into love but never doubt, that he would still joke and have his fun

but you know things'll always be the same...

but you know things'll always be the same...
(keep running, keep running, keep running)
you'll be better off running (keep running, keep running, keep running)
