Sound the alarms for the end of the lie
That you've abused for far too long
We're in the hour of the fallout now
And there's nobody who can save our souls

Rise up for the things worth saving
Rise up for what we'll destroy
Rise up for something
Or you will be lost as you fade out inside of the noise

This is our wake up call

We have to pull it together
We have to save what we can
So put aside what you thought that you loved
And face the end

These bars our hearts must hold
Are only locked by those in charge of this broken world
And when their walls fall down
So will the keys to unlocking what we have never found

We are the children of love
Lost inside of this war...
We wear the scars on our hearts
But we don't know what they're for

We are the noise of generation now.(x4)

We are the noise
We are the noise

Hate
Is what we are bound by
Love
Is what will destroy
Trust
In everything selfish
Kill
What we don't deserve

I won't follow you to die
