The tension in this room could kill us all
We're tearing down these walls
And all the things that keep us trapped inside
I think it's starting to sink in
You always know what to say to get to me
To get under my skin

Walk away
Let it go
Let it all come down and bring you to your knees
There's nothing left here to save us now

There's only so much more that this can take
Did you plan on fading out?
Did we light this fire just to watch it burn?
You're a lie, you made it clear you're moving on It's alright, it's clear now we'll make it through this time

Walk away
Let it go
Let it all come down and bring you to your knees
You're the only one that's left to mend
Take it out on me
I think you've held on long enough
You said you'd always be there till the end
But don't count on me, you're not the one, we're moving on

Walk away
Let it go
Let it all come down and bring you to your knees

Walk away
Let it go
Let it all come down and bring you to your knees
