Tired, again
It's been a long day working, thinking
Just a servant of society
Stuck in paradise
And I'm trying hard to See the brighter side of this
But serving all these idiots
It's hard to say that it's the best that I'll find

I gotta get out of this place
I don't wanna be here forever
I won't let it be my true fate
There has to be something better
Now I just gotta survive
Gotta keep food on the table
Gotta keep going nine to five
Holding on until I'm able to

Escape, Escape, holding onto this
Faint hope that this will not be it
I know a better life exists
Out there, somewhere one day I'll find
Escape, Escape, ignorance is bliss
Eyes open so it won't be missed
Don't know if I can handle this
Another day in this paradise of (mine)

Mine but, how much
Longer will I have to do this
This routine is getting old
One more hour till I get to go
Stuck in this cycle it seems
One day I'll finally be free
From this American dream
And I will live to see my

Escape, Escape, holding onto this
Faint hope that this will not be it
I know a better life exists
Out there, somewhere one day I'll find
Escape, Escape, ignorance is bliss
Eyes open so it won't be missed

Don't know if I can handle this
Another day in this paradise of mine

(Another day, it's all the same, again)
And everyday it's all the same
(Not stuck in this place, I can get out alive)
Expendable pawns in this game
(I gotta get out, I just gotta try this time)
And am I really the one to blame
(Won't take me alive, I will survive this life)
I just wanna get out right now

Escape, Escape, won't give up this fight
I will not settle for this life
I'll make a dream out of my time
And I'll be free

Escape, Escape, holding onto this
Faint hope that this will not be it
I know a better life exists
Out there, somewhere one day I'll find
Escape, Escape, ignorance is bliss
Eyes open so it won't be missed
Don't know if I can handle this
Another day in this paradise of (How much more of this can I take?

But it will get better I think)

Escape, Escape, won't give up this fight
I will not settle for this life
I'll make a dream out of my time
And I will finally be free

(This will not be the end of me
But it will be my new beginning)
