Did your thoughts get lost in the quick sand?
Would you take them to the grave?
And could you believe?
That this is just what we were looking for

It's been a long time since I kissed the never
And now I'm far to gone to pray
And could you believe?
That this is just what we were looking for

Sell the life
Protect the truth
Taste the weakness cutting through

We all came down with the sickness
On the street in Andrew's name
And could you believe?
That this is just what we were looking for

And now it's all just a memory
A romantic thought that's suck in vein
And could you believe?
That this is just what we were looking for

Sell the life
Protect the truth
Taste the weakness cutting through
