I ask why, you don't want to talk about the things that make you cry im never really sure about the reason or the why same thing, except the main intention yours was meant to cut, that look upon your face can only mean one thing and that is, yeah you hate the things im thinking, the things read in my eyes, we opened up the box and let the demons in the skies, yeah the skies

but im learning all about my life cuz I read it on the front page of the paper, the boy on the bike has delivered my life and along with it comes my alibi, and im screaming at the sight of the print in the corner as I read it I dropped my coffee, the dates not today nor the day that's before it's the next that's what kills me I have no choice

I cant remember all the things you said I cant remember all the times that you turned that perfect smile upside down and then spun it all around in the office that I animate I've seen you cry but I cant relate to words from happy songs yeah the title of a boy who's a little bit empty blind man I wish my limbs were broke then id have hands to heal but I cant wake up and I cant sleep so just crash just crash cuz in the time it took the flashing van to split the road I actually cared about its destination the car with the cans on the back and the sign just buried my expectation it pulled to the side pausing briefly like everyone else asked the simplest questions was it the wife of a lover or the child of a mother or some hated politician and I remember reading all about it in the morning and what an awful sad misfortune the light had turned red but the witnesses said that his eyes were on the girl beside him so oh take your time rest your mind and let other creep into your soul and oh in my life there are few opportunities to find release and justify some peace justify some justify some find release and justify some peace
