Mr. Sensitive liked Miss Offensive
She always said what she meant at expense of Saving the feelings of those in good company
It lead him close to the edge of a precipice

Miss Offensive, she liked Mr. Sensitive
He was so quiet and thoughtful and dignified
But she furrowed with each disapproval
'Til the girl dutifully said less and less of the Things she felt inside

What we wanted

Soon some weeks into their ill-fated love affair
Came the disastrous and inevitable day
Offensive collided with Sensitive
Sparking a scene of unpleasant defensiveness
Oh, oh, no

What we want and what we need
What we want and what we need
Are not always agreed

I don't know why but it feels like I'm doomed
To be always thinking and always confused
Try get my mind around me and you
But all I achieve is a stew
Of memories

What we wanted
What we wanted
What we want and what we need
What we want and what we need
What we want and what we need
Are not always agreed.
