I cried for you tonight. Shedding tears that looked just like your eyes
I could have died for you tonight. Shattered tears that looked just like your eyes.

Well I cried for you tonight, she'd tears that look just like your eyes.

Beauty was portrayed by your seductive actions. A solemn act for what will never come to be.

Crushing sounds, blinding sights, stone cold heart, emptiness.

Break me down, throw me out. Merciless, violent screams.

With a lack of respect.

Crushing sounds, blinding sights, stone cold heart, emptiness

Break me down, throw me out, merciless, violent screams.

How can I respect myself when everything I cared about was really nothing more than a lie?

Would you ever take my life in your hands. Take my life and just throw it away, hate my life

After our everything

Would you ever take my life in your hands. Take my life and just throw it away,

Hate my life after our everything.

Would you ever take my life in your hands, Fill it full of love just to watch it burn

Could you ever take my life in your hands, take my love, take my life, watch it burn,

In your hands.

So come on, I'll never pass your tests. My pride is just broken down regrets. This is your fucking mess

I cannot take this kind of stress. You bring me down and I hate it.

This broken man's depression leads a weary heart to battle on with rage.

We as one will carry our own, weary minds disbanding sorrow

Will your heart and your head will follow discover who you are

Discover who you are, keep looking inside your heart
Reach out for the pain that scars, discover who you are Shatter all memories a choice we can run with, fabricate destinies through stories we've told
Live it all, plot it all from that place you call home, you never see what lies there for you
You won't give up
I'll cry for you tonight. I Cried For You. I'd Die For
You. I cried for u tonight. I'd die for you
It leaves me... ..
