I think I'm screaming out, or is it just the sound Of everyone I've hated looking down on me.....I feel the same way

I think I hate you know, I think I've had enough
By the way my words have faded, I'd give you anything
Just to live again

And if I had the chance to be with you forever I would take away everything outside of me
Because you are so much more

We have spent the best days of our lives
Singing choruses about the times our lives pass by Charishing these memories within

This worlds a sinking ship, but I'll love thought of you
