t's all been said
But only in my head
I needed something
But nothing now instead
Talking on and on about how Everything will be
I see it everyday
There's no reason to stay

It's over now
But nothing goes away
Back to my home
Your cover's blown
I wanted you to know

I wanted you to know

And if the chance comes through
I don't know what I'd do
The choice was made, cut like a blade
But in its wake I grew
Thousands of miles apart
I wouldn't know where to start
A broken mirror, but somehow clearer
I feel it in my heart
