Have you notice
What you started?
Does it matter who you are?
And these necessary movements,
They just make you fall apart.
And you try so hard.

It's a game you play
When you're always second best.
I've made the same mistakes,
But all this is a message
For the different ones.
So take this for yourself this time.

You've been watching
With your sore eyes,
But all you know is lies.
And it kills you every time
You complain about your life.
And your wasting time
And your standing still.

It's a game you play
When you're always second best.
I've made the same mistakes,
But all this is a message
For the different ones.
So take this for yourself this time.
Again you'll find
That hope is standing on your side.

I've seen days,
I've seen better days.
I keep thinking I'm falling apart.
I'm the same,
I'm still the same.
I keep asking myself
If I'm ready to start
With giving till I'm happier.

It's a game you play
When you're always second best.

I've made the same mistakes,
But all this is a message
To the different ones.
So take this for yourself this time.
Again you'll find
That hope is standing by your side.
