I heard you rule the planet
Just with your beauty
They say the winds they settle down
Just to see you, see you walk on by
I know it gives you a lot of fun
To eye every boy
And skip every one
You don't love anyone but yourself
Looking glass never lied to you
Someday you'll be owned like a jewel
By some poor blind fool
But you'll never get a bit of true life glow
And that's something every diamond
On earth should know

I heard you move the planets
They're lining up to look at you
I'd better watch myself or else
I will be lining up on queue
You don't love anyone but yourself
Looking glass never lied to you
Someday you'll be owned like a jewel
By some poor blind fool
But you'll never get a bit of true life glow
And that's something every diamond
On earth should know
