Every story has two sides and somewhere in between the truth lies and waits for me.

And time can be greedy,
stealing all the details
that you thought you had.

The elephant screams
so loud the ceiling cracks and falls down on your head.
And still you just sit there,
wipe off all the dust
and say that you're sad.

Help me to climb this
magic mountain of me.
I've had enough of this.
I'll never be free.

Can you please hold my hand
and say this wasn't planned,
you know I'll understand.
Just tell me how it is.

And someday soon you'll see
that it was not just me
and nothing comes for free
at least not worth fighting for.

Like every good story,
this one has got a start, middle, end
and an epilogue.
But it can be tricky
to see who is the villain
and who is the hero.

What you need to see is that we are nowhere close to crossing the finish line.

It's so far away
that it's looking like a dot or maybe a zero.

Help me to climb this
magic mountain of me.
I've had enough of this.
I'll never be free.

Can you please hold my hand
and say this wasn't planned,
you know I'll understand.
Just tell me how it is.

And someday soon you'll see
that it was not just me
and nothing comes for free
at least not worth fighting for.

Help me to climb this
magic mountain of me.
I've had enough of this.
I'll never be free.

Can you please hold my hand
and say this wasn't planned,
you know I'll understand.
Just tell me how it is.

And someday soon you'll see
that it was not just me
and nothing comes for free
at least not worth fighting for.
