I am human, I am changing
I'm growing further from myself
And above all else I find I am grateful
To the one who gave its place
The one who gave its name
To the one who had no choice of living or dying
And now I am convinced that life is a gift
But I'm haunted by the voices that say...

Get up, get up, get up...do something
Get up, get up, get up, get up...do something

Now I wasn't here before anyone, anyone
You'll disappear once see what you have become Distance is faith, and it shines like a star
That you see in the day because it hurts in your heart

Now this isn't right, yes I know it's not natural
You want to help me because I'm a disaster
The feeling is mutual, I'll agree
Driving you safely away from me

Oh, I am human
The change is coming and I keep on running
I am human
The change it's coming and I keep on running

So you say what you wanted to say
And do as you wanted to do
Pray as I know that you pray
Let the distance sink in you

Could you know where I was from the game?
Heaven does not descend
You will know yourself

Now I am human
The change is coming and I keep on running
I am human
The change it's coming and I keep on running

All I want waits in windows

Where nothing falls apart, enough
And it goes on and on Braving darkness
Where nothing's what it seems, enough
