Heads or tails, time to choose
What else is left to lose, what else is right to gain?
Compromise for the man, our single's in your hand
But deaf ears will stand in our way

In the clear blue sky of my disease
Endles possibilities shine more like stars than the sun
And in the words of love, "I don't care"
Do your best to interfere, you are not in control

We are infinite and fully operational
Possibilities revealing so much more to me

True or false, take a guess
You rely on ignorance, your crutch is made out of gold
Must be nice, worry-free
Plenty of security, or so that's what I've been told

In the clear blue sky of my disease
Something tries to signal me, "Get out while you're still young"
But in the words of love, "It's too late"
I'm finally warming up to fate, I am not in control

We are infinite and fully operational
Possibilities revealing so much more to me

Imagine life was given to you
Before the moment you opened your eyes
Would you find purpose
In trusting your path to a guide?

We are infinite and fully operational
Possibilities revealing so much more to me
